Technology Access Points of Philippi and Khayelitsha Database

Jennifer Bombard, Marguerite Carey, Brendan Kling, & Emily Richardson

December 2015

Abstract: These are the database entries created for the development of a technology access point map. These points are places where community members can access computers, printers, and the Internet either free or at cost. With these entries we hope that the Women's Networking Group and the whole community of Philippi will see an increase in visible connectedness of their community.
